INTERNATIONAL NEWSQUEEN ELIZABETH'S VISIT TO ETHIOPIA

Britain's Queen Elizabeth had a tumultuous welcome last week when she arrived in Addis Ababa, Ethiopia.

Next day she spent a while delving into Ethiopia's Christian past.

On a visit to the Haile Selassie University, the Queen spent more than half an hour in the Institute of Ethiopian Studies examining ancient Ethiopian parchments.

One of them, the Life of the Apostle, was said to have been written in 1215 AD. Some paintings exhibited were from the days of the Queen of Sheba.

The President of the University, Kassa Wolde Mariam, presented the Queen with an ancient 12-inch high wooden church cross.

The royal party later visited Africa Hall, which houses the headquarters of the United Nations Economic Commissions for Africa.

The executive secretary of the E.C.A., Mr. Robert Gardiner of Ghana, showed the Queen the main conference hall where the charter of the Organisation of African Unity was signed in May, 1963.

Earlier that day, the Queen laid a wreath at the Liberation Memorial in the centre of Addis Ababa, and on the tomb of the late Empress Menen, wife of the Emperor.

A man in a beaded white cap twice tried to hand a letter to the Queen as she talked to guests at a British Embassy garden party later.

British officials stopped him on both occasions and said petitions should be sent through normal channels and not waved in front of the Queen at a formal garden party.

The man, named as Gabre Selassie, said he was from British Guiana. People with him said he came to Ethiopia three months ago and was recently ordained a deacon in Addis Ababa.

Two nuns who offered the Queen some Maltese lace as she talked to them were also told by officials that it was not the correct way to offer a gift.

The Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh spent over an hour in hot sunshine talking to the guests assembled in separate groups, each with their ambassador and national flags.

CHURCHILL FUND

Former President Dwight Eisenhower has agreed to serve as honorary chairman of a Winston Churchill Memorial Fund set up by the English-speaking Union of America, it was announced last week.

AIR CRASHESNEW YORK:

Monday Night, an Eastern Air Lines four-engined airliner with 84 persons aboard exploded and crashed into the icy Atlantic minutes after take-off from Kennedy Airport.

Two hours later there was no trace of survivors, despite a huge air-sea rescue mission.

A mass of flames marked the spot where the plane struck the surface of the sea off the south shore of Long Island.

A coast guardsman in a lookout tower reported seeing the plane explode in the air. His observation was confirmed by a Pan American World Airways crew whose plane was nearby.

SANTIAGO, Chile:

Last Saturday an airliner - a DC 6 of the Chilean Airline L.A.N. - slammed into an Andes mountainside, killing 87 passengers and crew, 7 of whom were children.

The wreckage was found at a height of nearly 12,000 feet about 30 miles from the town of San Jose De Maipo.

It was the third major air disaster in Chili in recent years. In 1960, a L. A. N. Chile plane crashed near Concepcion, killing all aboard including the members of a Chilean foot-ball team.

VIRGIN GORDA, V.I.

Three people were killed and two seriously injured when their Cessna-18 private plane crashed on landing here in the British Virgin Island last Sunday.

The dead included the pilot and his wife.

FORTHWORTH, TEXAS:

All four people aboard a light aircraft on a pleasure flight died when the plane crashed while preparing to land at an airport near Forthworth, Texas, early last Monday.

The plane apparently hit a power line.

THE CARIBBEAN'NO HASTY MARRIAGE WITH T'DAD

Chief Minister Herbert Blaize told a public meeting at Mt. Moritz on Friday, that if the defunct Federation had started out in a manner similar to the one Grenada is now pursuing in unitary statehood with Trinidad, it would have had a better change of survival.

Government, he said, was doing everything with the knowledge of the people, and pursuing a course steadfastly, definitely and confidently because no hasty marriage could last.

He admitted that his Government did not know that it would have taken two years, instead of one, as they had promised.

During that time, he said, Trinidad had been preoccupied with its own affairs and the commissioners were attending to other business in Canada, the United Nations and Europe.

ACTRESS FALLS FOR JAMAICA

Ginger Rogers and her producer-husband, William Marshall, have big plans to establish a film enterprise in Jamaica.

"We shot a picture there last year," said Ginger. "It is called 'The Confession,' and it stars Ray Milland and myself. It's a suspense story laid in Italy, and Jamaica looked just perfect for it. The island is simply beautiful.

"We have been chartered by the Government to develop a film industry in Jamaica," said Ginger. "The possibilities are enormous—weather, scenery, water.

She and Marshall expect to film more movies in Jamaica and hope to lure other producers, both for features and television. They also plan to buy a house in Jamaica, and she plans to spend at least half of each year on the island.

'LITTLE 7' CONSTITUTION DETAILS REVEALED

The 'Little Seven' British West Indian islands would have a single 16-seat legislature and an eight-seat upper chamber under the terms of a draft scheme for federation, according to reliable sources.

The pattern of the proposed federation became clearer today as Mr. Anthony Greenwood, British Colonial Secretary, arrived in St. Vincent, the sixth of the seven islands he is visiting in his West Indies fact-finding tour.

The Legislature would be composed on a population basis, with Barbados having five seats, Montserrat one seat and the other islands two each. A separate, federal civil service is also envisaged in the unpublished draft scheme.

Federal elections would elect the legislature's members, who need not be members of the territorial parliaments, and the legislature would choose a federal premier, the sources said.

The draft scheme is understood not to include provision for common police, educational or postal services which would remain the individual responsibility of each government.

And it had not been decided when the island group would achieve independence.

All the islands are preoccupied about the amount of British aid they can expect, but Mr. Greenwood is believed to be making no financial commitments at present.

With memories of the defection of Jamaica and Trinidad and Tobago from the previous federation, a formal obligation never to secede might be written into the federal constitution, the sources said.

BAN ON ALL CIGARETTE ADS URGED

A British Government ban on television advertising of cigarettes announced Monday was followed by a call for the banning of all cigarette advertising.

Thirteen Labour Members of Parliament tabled a motion in the House of Commons—welcoming the television ban and urging the Government "to persuade and if necessary compel the newspapers, periodical, cinema and poster site proprietors to follow this example."

The motion says the ban is needed in view of what it describes as "the proven dangers to health, including cancer, of cigarette smoking."

Several British newspapers said the decision to ban television advertising was illogical, and only two of the six national newspapers which commented on it gave the Government unqualified support.

EDITORIAL

COMPLAINTS

Since our editorial in last week's issue, we have been flooded with all sorts of complaints which our readers would like to have us published. Before going into some of them we would like to remind our readers that letters addressed to the editor must be properly signed and the writer's address must appear on the correspondence. We take full responsibility for whatever is published, therefore we must be certain of certain facts before publication of any letter can be made. We would not mention the name of a correspondent unless he wishes his name published.

Please do not hesitate to send in your letters. We are always glad to receive them.

Question No. 1 - Was it necessary that Louis Krind should have met such an untimely end? Or was it because of Lago's force reduction program which employs contractors instead of Lago safety conscious employees to do work require extreme safety?

Not long ago, another employee suffered a broken leg in the same PCAR area as the result of contractor employees not trained in safety.

Question No. 2 Why can't postage stamps be sold at the same window where packages are weighed in the San Nioclas Post Office, as is done in Oranjestad?

At the San Nicolas Post Office, it is necessary first to have your package weighed and then go over to the stamp window to buy the required stamps then go back to the package window to deliver the stamped documents. Much time can be saved if stamps are sold at the sam window where the packages are delivered.

Question No. 3

Does the Captain of the Antillia decide her course or the agents? At least the agent here in Aruba never knows when she's coming or going.

Isn't it possible to establish more effective means of communication between this vessel, her agents and her passengers?

Question No. 4

Why is it necessary for persons living in Aruba who desire to travel on the Antillia have to pay for a cable message to the agent in Curacao to find out whether there is accommodation available? The airlines agents provide this service free of charge. Why not the Antillia agents?

Question No. 5

Why is it that services degenerate so fast after the first month of business in any new business. We were happy to learn that the latest Esso Station in San Nicolas were concerned about their clients, cleaning the windshield as they drove up for gasoline and performing other necessary small services. To our surprise this practice has been completely abandoned and the service is the same I-could-n't-care-less as one would get at any other station.

LOUIS KRIND BURIED

Following the arrival of his father, Mr. Marius (Andy) Krind, from Suriname, and sisters, Ruth and Esmay from the United States, the body of Louis Krind was laid to rest last Wednesday at the Government Cemetary, San Nicolas.

The funeral services were held at the Odd Fellows Lodge, attended by a large number of his many friends and acquaintances.

The Y.M.C.A. Brass Band played the funeral music at the lodge as well as at the Cemetary.

Joining in the Solemn procession to the grave were Ancient Order of the Odd Fellows of which he was a member, and various other fraternal organizations, the Y'S men Club, Cricketers, IOVUA members, and representatives of the Lago Management, the Medial Department and his own department.

At the grave the burial rites were performed by Methodist Lay Preacher, Mr Connor and the Revd. Father Javocu, of the Roman Catholic Church.

The esteem in which the late Mr Louis Krind was held was quite evident from the spontaneous manifestation of grief at his funeral.

To his bereaved ones we add our quota of heartfelt sympathy,

MAY HE REST IN PEACE.

A. J. BOOI RECOMMENDED AS ISLAND SECRETARY

One item on the agenda for the next Island Council meeting will be a proposal of the Administrative Council to appoint Acting Island Secretary A. J. Booi to Government service effective January 15, 1965.

The Administrative Council said: "Twelve persons responded to an ad for the vacancy of Island secretary. From the applicants, we now recommend appointment of A. J. Booi, who fully meets the established requirements. We wish to note that Mr. Booi has been holding the function of acting secretary since June 5, 1964 to our full satisfaction." Mr. Booi has twelve years of service with the island government.

CHEMICAL INDUSTRIES OPERATIONS

The Aruba Chemical Industries in the past year exported over 28,000 metric tons of ammonia, 25,000 metric tons of urea and over 31,000 metric tons of mix fertilizers. Most of the ammonia productions was shipped to Costa Rica where it was given further processing.

The general manager of ACI, C. H. Duncan stated a few weeks ago in a message to the employees that although progress was registered in the enterprise, production and the financial results of the plants remained below expectations in 1964. The plants have proved that they can operate according to the established plans, but in 1964 they could not yet operate at full capacity.

Mr. Duncan feels that partly in view of the great demand for chemical products, the future outlook is favorable. Since the chemical plants encounter keen competition, the production level must be increased to cope with this competition. Mr Duncan made an appeal to the employees to fulfill their task in the enterprise and to cooperate as a team to make the results favorable.

The export of chemical products in 1964 went to fourteen countries, including Costa Rica, Peru, Jamaica, El Salvador, Norway, Puerto Rico, St. Vincent, the U. S., Korea and Africa. A total of 53 shipments was made from the industrial harbor of Barcadera. The largest shipment was with the Socrates of KNSAM, which transported over 5,000 tons of fertilizer to Norway.

HUMOR      PAYING FOR THOUGHTS

You don't have to be crazy to buy an Insurance, but it pays, claims a comic one day. That is a very strange remark said his friend. Well, said the comic, I'll explain. It's like this: The Insurance agent bets you that you are going to live, and you're betting him you're going to die, and you hope he wins the bet, and he charges you for thinking that way.

THE ACCIDENT THAT KILLED LOUIS KRIND

Louis Krind died last Saturday as a result of injuries received in an accident at the PCAR on February 4th. He was buried on Wednesday following service at the Odd Fellows Lodge.

The deceased received a deep cut on the right upper portion of his head, resulting in a possible skull fracture, and several other cuts and abrasions about the face when piece of floor plate measuring 3'x5' x 5/16" thick and weighing approximately - 190 lbs. The plate fell from the stairway between the 5th and 6th platforms at PCAR, where it was being handled by two Chicago Bridge men, and continued down the stairwell to the stairway between the ground floor and the 2nd floor where it struck the deceased.

Because the elevator was out of service, the floor plate in question was taken to the 6th floor by the skip hoist. There was no skip hoist landing on the 5th floor where the plate had to be installed.

Chicago Bridge workmen, E. Brooks and J. Foy, then proceeded to move the piece of floor plate manually down the stairway between the 6th and 5th floors. The plate was being held on the edge by each man when the forward lowed edge jammed against one of the stair treads.

In attempting to dislodge the floor plate the two men allowed the plate to slip sideways under the stairway handrail. They lost their grasp on the plate and it continued its downward fall to the ground floor, striking several of the stairway handrails.

At the same time, the deceased and another Instrumentman, S. Stamper, were ascending the stairway between the ground floor and 2nd floor, (Stamper above and Krind below) when the floor plate fell. S. Stamper heard the noise made by the falling plate and ran up the stairway, and turned near the top of the stairway at the 2nd floor where he observed Krind, who had just been struck by the falling floor plate, lying at the bottom of the stairway partially covered by the plate. Stamper then ran back to the Control House to summon help for the injured.

HOTEL PLANS

Last week one of the leading dailies received the hotel plans announced for Aruba and mentioned that only five of these can be expected to go through. A total of 23 hotel plans were announced. They were as follows:

LUCKY STRIKE BUILDING, Oranjestad.

FLOATING HOTEL, Palm Beach. The plans for this 222-room hotel was brought along by Alderman Falconi from a recent trip to Puerto Rico.

HOTEL ARUBA ARIBA, Palm Beach. (Old San Jose Plantation of Ecury). Unofficial reports say Mr. Valdes is still working on the plans. It is a planned bridge-plaza and tent camp, costing $1.5 million.

TROCADERO HOTEL, Oranjestad.

Project of Edward de Veer Jr.,

The first ten rooms can be completed within five months. Also some other sixteen rooms will be built in Trocadero at a slower pace. Other plans: 20 or 40 rooms behind the Trocadero building and a swimming pool.

HADICURARI HOTEL, on the fishermen's beach north of POVA. Three construction phases: 40 bungalows with service area; another 40 bungalows later and finally a recreation center. Capital is available, according to Morris Neme. Building can be started within 60 days after approval of licenses. First phase to be ready for coming season; subsequent phases in 1966 and 1967. Hotel has no name yet.

EXTENSION OF BASI RUTI, Palm Beach.

PROJECT WITHOUT NAME, At Eagle Beach between pier and Manchebo Hotel. This plan for 60 rooms seems uncertain. An American who is interested in the project is expected in Aruba this month.

HOTEL CENTRAL, Oranjestad. This plan for 16 rooms has materialized in the mean time by Yendi Croes and the hotel was opened on September 19, 1964. At present there are no extension plans for this hotel.

PROJECT WITHOUT NAME, At Palm Beach. Promoters unknown. This plan comprises the building of 20 prefab shelters rebuilt to bungalows with a prefab swimming pool. Total cost Fls. 50,000.

STRAND HOTEL, Oranjestad. This plan comprises a rebuilding project, which started in July 1964. Twelve suites were completed in December 1964. The bar, Perla di Caribe night club and dining hall were completed in January 1965. This month 16 additional rooms will be ready and next month the swimming pool. The cost of the first phase is approximately one million florins. The second phase comprises the erection of a two-story building with rooms, to be completed within two years. This second phase will depend, however, on the successful operation of the first phase.

PROJECT WITHOUT NAME, at Palm Beach. Mr. Veltman, a foreigner, wants to build a 200-room hotel on a plot of long lease land near the Palm Beach Club, which plot stands registered in the name of Mrs. M. Irausquin. At his recent visit, Mr. Veltman stated that the financing is practically settled. He will approach the government when everything is ready.

THE CACTUS INN, Oranjestad. The first phase of this project of Lorenzo Arends has been completed in the meantime. The cost was Fls. 200,000, and the hotel has 20 rooms. The second phase comprises 50 rooms plus swimming pool. Target date for completion is December 1966.

ROBINI HOTEL, Eagle Beach. Plans announced a year ago. La Esperanza (E. Wever) developed vacation plan with Colombian organization through weekly savings premiums of Fls. 4.25 for 23 months. Vacation policies are sold in Curacao, Aruba, and Colombia. Weekly the name of a policy holder will be drawn in the Antilles for a free trip. In this way, they hope to get 4,000 Colombian tourists every month in Aruba. To make things more attractive, they want to use the deposits to build a 100-room hotel on the Aruban beach. "If all goes well, we want to start in a year and a half," says Mr. Wever.

PROJECT WITHOUT NAME, In Oranjestad. The plan for 74 rooms was announced a few years back on the corner of Emanstraat and Schelpstraat on a vacant lot of the Eman family. Project to cost 1- $\frac{1}{2}$  million guilders.

STEENWEG HOTEL, Oranjestad. This concerns rebuilding of an existing home on Steenweg.

CORAL INN, Oranjestad. A 50-room hotel, with a shopping gallery, planned on the site where Willem de Zwijger Park is located.

ARUBA SHERATON HOTEL. Palm Beach. Opening expected at the end of 1966.

Investment 9 million guilders.

ARUBA CARIBBEAN HOTEL, Extension of existing hotel at Palm Beach with 80 rooms. Contact for construction has already been awarded. Capital will come from Holland. Opening is planned for mid 1966. Project can be started any time now.

PALM BEACH HOTEL, at Palm Beach. This plan for 128 rooms, first phase, is of Messrs. Cliff Jones and Jake Kozloff and has been pending since May 1962. Option on the land expires next month.

ARUBA BEACH HOTEL, at Palm Beach. Two building phases for 100 rooms each. First phase will require $4 million. According to Mr. Bilienski, core drillings have already been done. Construction to start in first quarter of 1965 and to be completed at the end of 1965.

PROJECT WITHOUT NAME, at Palm Beach, of a group of European investors, for 200 rooms. Talks still in progress. Group is still unknown and has not contacted government yet. Project estimated to cost 8 million florins.

MANCHEBO BEACH HOTEL, Eagle Beach, 24 double rooms. Serious plan. Mr. Manse is optimistic and thankful for cooperation of Lt. Governor Henriquez. Cost of first phase is: Fls. 650,000; second phase calls for another 24 double rooms.

MOTEL OLDE MOLEN, Palm Beach. This plan comprises 42 motel units. Negotiations are in progress with the Administrative Council. Project to cost Fls. 750,000. Reaction of Administrative Council now being awaited on proposals.

WATER MAINS TO BE EXTENDED TO MALMOK

Because of the large interest in plots in the Palm Beach area, by private individuals, as well as hotel companies, there are now plans to extend the water distribution system along this area to Malmok at an estimated cost of fls. 130,000,.

It was learned that some of retired former Lago Management members are among those who might be interested in the site, but because of lack of water had to abandon the idea.

Furthermore, if the planned Villa complex is to be carried out, piped water must be available.

The Villa plans calls for excavating a section to build an inland lake with a few islands, around which the home complex will be located. The building plots would be ample in size and would have an area of a thousand to fifteen hundred square meters. The total building area would be 357,240 square meters, divided into 296 plots. The plan also includes a restaurant, a swimming pool, a golf course and football field. The yacht harbor that was planned at Malmok will be relocated to Oranjestad.

TELEGRAM TO PRESIDENT JOHNSON

It was reported that the contact committee for trade and industry between Aruba and Curacao sent a telegram to President Johnson concerning the persistent rumors which have been circulating for about a week on a travel tax of $100 payable by U.S. tourists who travel abroad. The contact committee also held talks with the Antillean Government and the Administrative Councils of Aruba and Curacao. Both are now considering what steps should be taken and they will endeavor to gather information to establish whether the rumors are true or not.

Messrs. Arturo Jesurun (Curacao) and Clinton Whitfield (Aruba), in their respective capacity of second vice president of the Chamber of Commerce of the Americas and ex-president and adviser of the Chamber, sent a telegram to the Chamber in Miami for setting up a committee from the member countries to discuss the matter in Washington. The most recent rumors are that Canada and Mexico reportedly have been exempted from the travel tax. The problem in this course of affairs is to find out the half truth about the rumors.

NURSING TB PATIENTS IN ARUBA

In view of the increasing cost to the Island Government in having TB patients nursed in Curacao, the Administrative Council has ask for a survey to see whether costs could be cut by means of nursing in Aruba.

For 1964, it appeared that over eighty thousand florins were required, which included an amount of Fls. 7,518 for nursing expenses of previous years.

MISSION SERVICES

The Revd. Fr. A. Turner arrived here last Tuesday amid a downpour to conduct a Mission at Holy Cross.

His first Mission Service was at Oranjestad on Wednesday evening where an enrapt congregation listened to his every word.

Father Turner will be preaching at Holy Cross every evening next week at 7:30 p.m.

This might very well be his last Mission service in the West Indies, because he will be going back to England shortly after Easter.

And he is before all things, and by him all things consist.

And he is the head of the body, the church; who is the beginning, the firstborn from the dead; that in all things he might have the preeminence.

THE COMPUTERS ARE COMING

Industry wants to know what's coming, Diebold Group, Inc., Management Consultants - an international group of specialized management service companies, has undertaken to provide answers.

Here are some of the findings recently reported:

1. Speech recognition devices capable of recognizing dozens of different voices will begin to appear on a commercial basis at the end of the next decade.

In engineering, over half of the drafting now performed manually will be automated, as well as certain kinds of design work now done by engineers.

Corporate executives will have system capability for much tighter control of inventory throughout the entire purchasing - production - distribution process including improved means for adjusting production to reflect changes in the sales-inventory position. The result will be better customer service, lower inventories, smaller fluctuations in company operations, and decreased costs of operation.

A number of the new jobs created by automation will themselves be eliminated as automated systems advance and take over such functions as key punching and verification, calculations and checking, typing of routine and repetitive documents, assembly and analysis of limited types of business data, and making of semiroutine decisions based upon a variety of numerical and other measurable factors.

Future electronic computers will have even greater effect on the economy in the next ten years than in the past ten. Major organization changes will take place. When it is possible for an individual within a business to communicate with a machine system of literally hundreds or thousands of computer input-output devices located on desks, in machine stations or warehouses, and in sales offices, the full impact of the automation revolution will begin to be felt.

WOMEN'S COLUMNSUSAN'S MEAT LOAF

2 cups fresh bread crumbs	2 tablesp. horse-radish
$\frac{3}{4}$ cup minced onions	$2\frac{1}{2}$ teasp. salt
$\frac{1}{4}$ cup minced green pepper	1 teasp. dry mustard
2 eggs	$\frac{1}{4}$ cup milk
2 lb. chuck, ground	$\frac{1}{4}$ cup catchup
	$\frac{1}{2}$ cup catchup

1. When it's convenient, prepare bread crumbs, minced onions, green pepper.
2. About 1 hour before serving: Start heating oven to 400° F.
3. With fork, beat eggs slightly. lightly mix in meat, then crumbs, onions, pepper. (Meat will be juicier and more tender if you handle it as little as possible.) Add horse-radish, salt, mustard, milk,  $\frac{1}{4}$  cup catchup; combine lightly but well.
4. In bowl, shape meat into oval loaf; transfer to shallow baking dish or broil and-serve platter; smooth into shapely loaf. Spread top with  $\frac{1}{2}$  cup catchup. Bake 50 min.
Serve from baking dish or broil-and-serve platter, pouring off excess juices. Or with 2 bread spatulas, lift loaf out of baking dish onto heated platter. Spoon some of juices over meat. (Nice chilled, then serve sliced, too). Makes 8 servings.

P.S. If you prefer a soft, moist exterior, bake loaf as directed in 9"x5"x3" loaf pan. Pour juices from pan after baking. Unmold meat loaf onto cake rack; then place, right side up, on heated platter. Use juices for making gravy if desired.

CHILDREN'S CORNERPATRICIA AT PALM BEACH

Patricia was seven years of age and rather a big girl for her years. But unlike most of the children of Aruba she had never been to the seaside.

This was not because she did not like the sea, but Patricia was born in Holland and had only just arrived in Aruba. And although there are many beaches and holiday resorts there the water was usually so cold that Patricia's parents had never bothered to take the family swimming.

Patricia had learned how to swim in the swimming pool of her Holland school, where swimming is part of her curriculum. She had heard a great deal about Aruba's beaches from her parents and looked forward with great pleasure to a day by the sea.

And now, at last, a picnic had been planned for the next Sunday.

Patricia's parents had decided to take the family to Palm Beach and Patricia and her brother John were wild with excitement.

The day dawned bright and sunny. In fact it was one of those days that defies description. The skies were blue with a few white clouds here and there, the birds were singing and the flowers seemed prettier than ever.

The family piled into the car, taking along a large basket with sandwiches and lemonade and bananas and oranges and sweets and coffee and all the other things that make up a picnic basket.

They drove through the village of Santa Cruz and as they went along Dad told them something of the history of the village.

Patricia thought she had never seen such beautiful scenery.

Then they began to see the sea. And how blue it was, wonderfully blue.

As the car started its drive towards the sea, the children could hardly wait to get out and into their swim-suits.

But the car finally did come to a stop between coconut trees and the children were off. They raced down the beach and plunged into the water, splashing about like fishes.

How they revelled in it! And how right their parents had been about the beauty of a tropical seaside.

They went for a long walk exploring the beach, collecting stones and shells, and for once forgot about the sandwiches and oranges and had to be called more than once to eat.

But what a day this was— their very first visit to the seaside, and how lucky for them that it should have been to Palm beach, that colourful, beautiful, tropical beach.

EMIGRATION OF LAGO EMPLOYEES

The board of IOWUA has designated its president, F. L. Maduro, to travel to Holland with Lago representative N. P. Schindeler.
The two will acquaint themselves there with the possibilities of employment of Lago employees in Dutch industries.

Mr. Schindeler visited Holland previously on a similar assignment for Lago in 1964.
A few Lago employees have already found employment in Holland. The President of IOWUA will also contact Mr. Ben Terborch, vice president of International Federation of Petroleum and Chemical Workers.

In the meantime, the Aruba Administrative Council held consultation with a committee from the Island Council and rendered a report about the discussions with Lago's Management. This meeting was attended by Members E. R. Frinck and J. Geerman of ICA;
C. A. Eman and D. G. Croes of AVP, and F.
Figaroa and A. Werleman of UNA.
